

Luka Parojcic is the youth representative for the Diocesan Education Commission. He is an undergraduate student studying Finance and Business Administration at Miami University. Throughout his teenage years, he was an active member of St. Sava Serbian Orthodox Cathedral, serving as an altar server, epistle reader, and Sunday school student. He also taught folk dance and was a student-teacher for the Sunday school. He was tonsured a reader by His Grace Bishop Irinej at our beloved Shadeland Camp, where he was a counselor, during the liturgy at the 2023 Diocesan Day celebration.

Luka has had the opportunity to travel with His Grace Bishop Irinej on several occasions, learning and appreciating the liturgical history and traditions of our faith. He graduated from Strongsville High School with honors, where he was a member of the National Honor Society, various student organizations, and the varsity swim team. He continues to be involved on campus at Miami University in athletics and as a member of multiple professional development and social organizations, including the Phi Chi Theta professional business fraternity and the campus chapter of Orthodox Christian Fellowship. He is also our representative to the youth sector of the Assembly of Canonical Orthodox Bishops.

During breaks from school, Luka works as a youth swim coach, fostering a love of fitness in children of all ages. Luka is passionate about finding ways to engage and retain our teens and young adults as active members of our parish communities, aiming to unite everyone around the church as both a spiritual haven and a cultural center.
